

Flirting As The First Step In Seduction

Knowing how to approach women is a vital skill every man needs to know, because approaching women is the first step in creating a relationship with the girl of your dreams. The most important thing to remember when approaching women is to come off as non-threatening and to not, under any circumstances, telegraph your interest in them too early.

The reason why men are generally not good at approaching women is that they don't do enough of it. The problem is that approaching women is a learned skill, which means you have to do it and do it often to refine your craft. The golden rule of flirting or dating and approaching women is not to use common pick up lines.

Approaching women can be both easy and fun when you know how to do it right. For most of us guys, we experience intense fear and shyness when it comes to approaching women that we don't know. Most men who have problems approaching women have one peculiar thing in common: They are all expecting negative outcomes from the approach. Before you can become a master of approaching women, you will need to recognize that being rejected by a woman does not say anything about you -- in fact, it doesn't say much about her either. Finally, we come to a really important point about approaching women, and it is this: all men get rejected.

If you're a guy who has struggled with approaching women and starting conversations, there is a very good chance that this program contains exactly what you need to master this skill quickly and easily. However if you know and use the secrets to approaching women, you could very well be surprised how women actually love it when men walk up and start up a conversation. If you are a phony, you'll get called on it every time, so just relax a bit when approaching women and don't be afraid to show some vulnerability (that is keeping it real). So the most important rule when approaching a woman is be yourself. So, in order to minimize the embarrassment of rejection, and maximize your chances of success when approaching women, it is important to understand a few basic points about the art of the approach.

When approaching women, it is important to make extended eye contact, but not so much that you look like you have something to prove. Become confident about approaching and talking to beautiful women; be it talking, flirting or seduction, it is a skill you can make part of who you are, making you easily be able to approach and communicate with women no matter how attractive. Take precautions to conceal yourself while approaching women. If you do, this sends the message that you are not feeling good about approaching.

I'm sure there's some great psycho-babble out there about how this relates to your 'inner child,' but it doesn't help you learn how to approach women with confidence, so let's leave that out for now. If you get rejected by a woman, it is not something to take very seriously, or let affect your confidence in any way. You should never let it undermine your self-confidence.

Even if you can get your courage up, there's no guarantee you're going to be successful, either. Being able to feel confident and successful when talking to beautiful women has nothing to do with looks, it is an inner sense of being comfortable with who you are. In fact, another thing I discovered was that instead of trying to find the perfect line or impressive approach, the most successful technique to approach women is simply not messing it up. Learning the art of approaching women can be the tipping point to help you cross that elusive threshold of social success.

The first and most basic step therefore in approaching women is to understand that rejection is a normal part of the game of seduction. So guys, become one of the few men who realize that approaching women is a natural part of life, and one that will likely bring great joy. For some, flirting is the first step in seduction.

About the Author

You are about to discover: The most powerful, One Of A Kind, Time-tested, Unique and Proven System That Guarantees To Give You The Most Awesome Success With Beautiful Women... find out more about Flirting As The First Step In Seduction Paul Rodgers specializes in marketing natural health and beauty products.

Source: <http://www.relationshiprepair.net>